your cash flow problems

grow their business

What is Factoring?

Factoring is purchasing commercial accounts receivable at a discount. A business can sell invoices to Allegiant for instant cash. When banks fail to approve financing or additional funds, many businesses choose factoring. It can provide the funds necessary for businesses to meet payroll, pay vendors, take on new projects or pay other expenses.

It also allows you to concentrate on running your business instead of collecting your accounts receivable.

Who Can Qualify?

Allegiant is much more concerned with the credit worthiness of your customers than with your current financial condition. If you have commercial customers and fit into one of the following categories, then factoring could be great a solution for you:

- A business that is highly seasonal
- An organization that is experiencing high growth
- A start-up entity or one that has been in business for a short time
- Acquisition/buyout transactions
- Tax Liens (assuming the IRS will subordinate)
- A company emerging from bankruptcy
- Unable to meet current loan or net worth financial ratios
- Loan workouts
- Insufficient collateral

Benefits of Factoring

- Approval and funding within 48 hours
- No monthly payments
- 24/7 online account access
- Your "credit line" grows with your business
- No debt is created on your balance sheet
- No need to give up valuable equity
- Allegiant will provide credit assessments of your customers
- You can take advantage of sizable purchase discounts or prepayment discounts
- There is no need to offer your customers early payment discounts

What Type of Companies Factor?

Any company that sells goods or provides services to commercial entities is a good candidate for factoring. Examples include but are not limited to the following: advertising agencies, apparel, caterers, CPA firms, temporary employment agencies, guard services, janitorial services, law firms, government agencies, landscaping companies, manufacturers, nursing agencies, printers, software companies, trucking companies and many more.
